Part 3

- Digging Deep into the Data: A repository of lessons learned about aligning

Welcome!

Please put in the chat:

- Name, Location and responses to one or all these questions:
 - What do you hope to learn today?
 - Aside from funding, what are you looking for to make your multisector work easier or more effective?

Today's Agenda

Agenda

- Introduction to PHIL
- Brief Recap – Parts 1 & 2
- Review Aligning Systems for Health Data Walk website
- Individual or group review of Data Walk website
- Questions & Discussion
- Closing

Objectives

- Describe the top three things to do when aligning systems for health (i.e., the "Secret Sauce")
- Explain where to find additional resources to learn more about the "Secret Sauce" elements
- Identify at least one new resource you want to dig deep into to learn more multisector collaboration or aligning systems for health

Beyond Land Acknowledgment

The Population Health Innovation Lab team respectfully acknowledges that we live and operate on the unceded land of Indigenous peoples throughout the U.S.

Acknowledgment is the beginning. Acknowledgment—and the research required to do it with integrity—should be an invitation to deeper analysis, relationship, and action.

Learn more about how to go beyond land acknowledgments. Visit www.nativegov.org

The Population Health Innovation Lab designs, catalyzes, and accelerates innovative approaches that advance health, well-being, and equity.
